You’d love to travel to Spain, Mexico or Peru and explore the beautiful scenery and ancient cities, eat delicious food and chat to the locals...but you worry it’s too hard and time-consuming for your adult brain to learn Spanish effectively and quickly.

But the truth is, you CAN “soak up” Spanish better and faster than a kid – and have fun while you’re doing it.

As an adult, you already have everything you need to learn Spanish far more quickly and easily than most kids.

That’s because you’re already fluent in your native language.

Studies by linguistic researchers and educational psychologists show adults have better learning skills because they’ve already mastered their native tongue, unlike children.

That means you can recognize language patterns and use your knowledge far better than kids. Once you’ve mastered one language, it’s easier to master another.

And that’s not all...

You already know Spanish...you just don’t realize it

Unlike most kids, you have a wide vocabulary in English. This means you already “know” 100s of Spanish words – you just don’t realize it!

Take the words cereal, dental, animal, festival, hospital, natural, color, control, parasol...they’re Spanish words too! You’ll be surprised at how many you know. And very soon you’ll be able to put those words into conversations – in just one day. All you need is to be fluent in Spanish is 3,000 words! That’s not a lot of words.

Expand your world and mind with Spanish

Imagine lying on a beach in Cancun... Belize.... Barcelona.... Andalucía ...soaking up the sunshine while you read the local paper, then strolling over to a restaurant for a long lunch. You order your delicious meal with ease and chat to the waiter. He’s delighted you speak his language and he tells you about a great place off the beaten track, only known to the locals...You decide to rent a car and drive along the coast to visit this hidden gem...

On top of expanding your horizons, learning a new language as an adult is the perfect way to expand your IQ and keep your brain healthy for many years to come, especially if you use techniques that are fun, enjoyable and relaxing – just like the ones we’re offering you in Great Escape Spanish.
